AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Billy Allen Musical Shows at Barre Opera House Next Week.

The coming week's attraction at the Barre opera house will be the Billy Allen Musical company, a company of talented comedians, a bevy of pretty girls in high class musical comedy plays that were presented in St. Louis during their successful engagement there, which lasted all the summer. This company comes to Barre with a repertoire of plays that are highly endorsed and is headed by that life-like Irish comedian, Billy Allen. The opening play will be "The King of Kokomo." This production will be mounted with special scenery and electrical effects and pretty costumes. The company has been engaged for the entire week and the management of the Barre opera house expects to break all records for large attendance, as it is entirely different from any other popular priced organization that has been in our city—Adv.
